

Musical Mondays Trivia

How to sign up

Starting on the Monday before the game, send your entrance fee ($5) to my Venmo account (@maxwojtanowicz). In the comments for your Venmo payment, let me know:

- if you're playing with a team, and if so, which team (give your team a fun name!); and
- what charity you/your team will be playing for.

When I get your entrance fee, I'll reply back via Venmo with the Zoom invite. (If you'd like to donate more, you certainly can -- it's going to a good cause, no matter who wins!)

You can play as an individual -- or you can play as a team with up to five people per team. If you're playing with folks outside your household, make sure to have another device handy to discuss answers -- a text thread or group video call are recommended.

I'll open the Zoom room about 30 minutes before we start, and be on hand to answer questions -- and then, we play!

How it works

There are five rounds. I'll explain the parameters for each round.

At the end of each round, you will have time to review your answers and submit them to me via private Zoom chat -- you should be able to click on my name in the chat feature, which will make it a private message.

Elect one member of your team to submit your final answers at the end of each round. It will help me keep scores straight if that person could please submit your team name and your answers all in one message (for example, Team Max: 1) answer 2) answer 3) answer 4) answer 5) answer).

You can only submit your answers once per round — if you submit more than once, I'll count the first set of answers. After all the answers are submitted, I'll reveal the correct answers... because that is how trivia works.

In between rounds, while I count scores, feel free to refresh your drink or snacks, hit the restroom, or, if you're playing for charity, drop info about your team's cause in the group Zoom chat.

At the end of the game, I'll tally up the scores, and the winning team's charity will receive the pot!

A couple last things:

- Cheating: I don't have any way to stop or monitor this, so please don't. This is all in good fun!
- Post-game survey: At the end of the game, I will drop a Google Form into the chat, with just a few quick questions about the event. I would value and appreciate your time and your feedback!
- More trivia: If you're interested in a custom trivia night like this one for your friends, family, or coworkers, you can find information at www.maxwojtanowicz.com.
